

Geospatial and Space Technology Department carries out 4th Term, FGE399, a mandatory unit for all students undertaking the Geospatial Engineering programme from January 2016 to February, 2016.

It is a unit that enables students to learn and have hands-on approach to production processes in Digital Image Processing (DIP) in Remote Sensing, and both digital and analogue processes in Photogrammetry using the hardware and/or equipment, and software available within the department of Geospatial and Space Technology, University of Nairobi.