

Geospatial & Space Technology Department Holds Geospatial Engineering Camp in 2019

Geospatial & Space Technology Department held Geospatial Engineering Camp from 16th June to 30th June 2019.

The camp was carried out at the University of Nairobi Kibwezi Field Station in Kibwezi. FGE400 is a mandatory unit that takes students through various project-type Geospatial Engineering processes as would be expected in real life, under the guidance of both Lecturers and Technical Staff. It is a unit that aims at giving students real life experiences and geared towards the molding of work ethic and the professionalism of a Geospatial Engineer.

This year's camp had the biggest number of the students and this is a proof enough of the growing love to the geospatial engineering.